

Today I told my kids Goodbye.

posted 17 hours ago by theObjectiveTruth +3852 / -6

Today I had the very difficult conversation with my children, that daddy might not come home from D.C. As a Veteran this is always something you are prepared to discuss, but it never comes easy.

Today I booked my flight to the east coast. On January 6th I will stand up with my fellow Americans and demand justice. When I joined the Army I swore to defend my country from all enemies, both Foreign & Domestic. Today we face a multitude of enemies that would have us bow down, and surrender our rights. Not today! Not EVER! For those of you watching all of this unfold from the sidelines, know that I harbor no ill feelings, but it is best you pay attention.

From Coronavirus lockdowns, to mask mandates, to voting irregularities and blatant fraud. From "woke" ideologies like critical race theory, and progressive Marxism. We face an attack on all fronts. No longer will Americans stand by and watch our country systematically dismantled. I hope beyond all hope that this movement remains a peaceful one, that we might achieve Justice for our citizen voters. And I hope that the threats from Antifa and BLM do not get carried out against patriots. Know, that as an American Veteran, I love you all. No matter your race, sex, creed, religion, skin color, or political preference. But we must protect our liberties, today, and always.

Hug your friends and families. Tell them you love them. What comes the 6th remains to be seen, but you must be prepared. I am not particularly religious, but may those of you that are, find solace in your god, and pray for a safe return to your families. We do this not for ourselves, but for all Americans. Remember that on the 6th.

I had the talk with my husband too. He's not a fighter. But I am. He's not happy, and he's going with me, but I told him that if I say go and leave me behind, that he must do it. No questions asked. I look forward to standing with you on the front lines. If it came down to it I wouldn't think twice about dying just so my family and friends can live free.

I told my Mom goodbye today. I said I had a good life and I have no kids, no husband. I told her I wanted to be peaceful but if our 'leaders' do the wrong thing and we have to storm the Capitol, I am going to Something has turned over in me and we can't go back. We did the right thing for our country all of ; and they sold us out to China. We did the right thing when it was 15 days to stop the spread. We were forced to watch BLM and Antifa burn and loot for a drug addict while we did the right thing. We were forced to stay home, get censored, arrested at church and businesses close down while big tech and

1 If you catch them doing a live segment, then you do the "anti fake-news maneuver".
A coordinated action by 2 or more persons. One gets their camera while other get the microphone from the "journalist". (maybe more required to make sure they don't grab them back).
Then the cameraman shows what they are hiding, and the one with the micro tell the real news.

It is a thought we must consider. If not a threat from the government, than those who have been brainwashed into believing BLM or Antifa as movements of equality by means of violence. I do not walk blindly into the fire. As many friends as we have today, we must not forget the threat of our enemies.

I at the very least will be wearing body armor, and full battle rattle. leave nothing to chance.

I am for taking this fight to actual enemies. Walking around the mall isn't tactical. It might be good for some ego stroking. Has the March for Life accomplished much?? How about that "Million Man march"? Maybe you have to go back 60 years to find one that accomplished anything and that's a tough call.

You absolute fool. An election was STOLEN and we have to follow THEIR RULES when THEY are the ones that started all of this? They don't support this country. They don't support the constitution.

The real thing to be cautious of is blm hiding behind, and guarded by, Police. DC cops are essentially antifa. I'm sure you know this.

There are many, many more of us patriots than them traitors. The domestic enemy will be out of bullets before we are out of bodies. If they have any brain for situational awareness, they know how to behave for what's coming. In any case, it seems the tree of Liberty is in dire need to be nourished at this juncture of US history. Freedom is never free.

When police feel threatened they start shooting. And when rounds start coming at you and dropping people like bloody screaming sacks, most people don't keep running towards gun police don't expend all their rounds and wait for a mob beating. They retreat tactically. Show case of a large police contingent getting beaten down. The average DC cop has nothing whatsoever to do with Schumer, Schiff, Soros, Pelosi, Sotomayor, Kagan and so on. Pick targets

Nowhere have I indicated that by domestic enemy, I meant the police, even the rogue ones that shoot at American civilians for exercising their Constitutional rights at that. It's not us patriots who alienate anyone. The alienating is done to us. Proud Boys dropped supporting the Blue after the traitorous cops alienated them, making them vulnerable for attacks from Antifa and BLM terrorists while defending the attackers. Who is alienating whom?

Psyops. Propaganda has nothing to do with the truth or a timeline. If they can get footage of angry white guys attacking uniformed police it will just serve their lie. Remember Charlottesville? A bunch of angry white guys with torches wasn't a good look.

I don't rule out the importance of the deed and targeted violence. Yes, the media lie in any event by omission or straight up fabrication. I just think attacking cops is wrong and counterproductive. If things pick up this year you will find many cops are on the right side or will be officially neutral.

What about patriots' own ability to record footages? All lies will be exposed with simple video-graphic evidences, as most hoaxes have been. George Floyd's footages were known and presented, too, but once the BLM terrorists' masters proceeded to ignore them, it's time for nothing else but war.

“ Remember Charlottesville? A bunch of angry white guys with torches wasn't a good look.

It's a setup from the start, as all the fake news media outlets had been ramping and hyping it up leading to the event. Too bad a relatively small number of fools fell for their race baiting.

“ I don't rule out the importance of the deed and targeted violence. Yes, the media lie in any event by omission or straight up fabrication. I just think attacking cops is wrong and counterproductive. If things pick up this year will find many cops are on the right side or will be officially neutral.

Dude, cops are civil servants salaried by the public via tax to serve the public's interest.

Once they nullify that social contract by unlawfully inflicting harms, injuries, and/or deaths

▼ They did shut things down and they are there to protect people who are stealing an election.

They can quit their fucking jobs if they want. They are Americans too and I expect them to do the right thing as an American, who cares if they happen to be employed as law enforcement ?
Plenty of people are skipping work to defend liberty. Fuck em.

▼ Grow up to be a patriot. Watch actively now. Learn from what's being done, and when you are of age, actively defend against those who would corrupt and destroy our wonderful country.

Hell, at 16, you can participate in your local elections to start bolstering our grass-roots numbers.

If we hadn't grown so complacent, and handed so much of the reigns of power over to them (effectively), they couldn't have done this. Run for what ever you can now, even dog-catcher. I'm serious. Get involved and motivate others.

▼ The stinking Politicians that have placed law and Constitution abiding Patriots in this position need to face trial, preferably a military one.

The hardest part about having courage is to fight fear, to such a degree where any step forward gives you more courage, when fear tells you too take a few steps back. Be resolved but be smart going forward. Live to fight another day but if necessary please choose to step forward. Liberty for future generations does not require courage it requires you to not be complacent to giving everything for their freedoms. Use your Voice First. Use your steps forward Second. Give your life only if those first two choices don't work! God Speed Americans! The Constitution is worth protecting!

There comes a time to stand up and defend our country, our homes, our countrymen and our families and friends. I fo not know what will happen this week but I do know that victory for America is the only option.
